EMILIANO MARAZZI - CREATIVE DIRECTOR

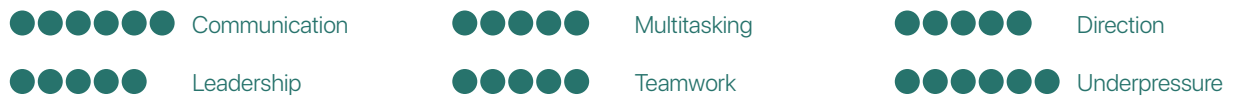

I'm Emiliano Marazzi: I'm from Milan and I graduated in 2004 in Industrial Design (Politecnico di Milano, 5y) with a thesis on creative requalification of Navigli quarter. I work with advertising companies, national and international clients and projects. I born as a natural traditional creative, and I still have a straight link with ink and paper projects. I involved with digital projects always more, 'till I became a digital art director too, with a great expertise on UI and UX of apps and websites. I'm firmly sure that creativity can't be defined in "classic" or "digital": a modern art director/creative director must see them as different faces of the same inspiration.
